

REDONDO BEACH PATH OF HISTORY

Part I, Original Town Site

redondo BEACH

HOTEL REDONDO

At the end of the 19th century, the gem of Santa Monica Bay's southern shoreline was the Hotel Redondo. Located in what is now Veterans Park, the hotel had panoramic views of the Pacific Ocean and the Pines-Sycamore Promenade. Tethered to Los Angeles by 17 miles of railway tracks, Redondo Beach's premier, 225-room hotel housed a bath on every floor and a fireplace in every room.

By 1914, all the rooms were available and the hotel was operating at full capacity. The hotel's grand opening was held on October 1, 1914. The hotel was a landmark of the city and a symbol of the city's growth. The hotel was a landmark of the city and a symbol of the city's growth.
